AN ANTITOXIN FOR FATIGUE.

Should the development of the study of toxins and antitoxins render possible the production of an antibody capable of neutralizing the results of muscular fatigue the consequences could hardly be predicted.

Net a German investigator seriously claims to have taken more than one step in this direction already and publishes results that are at least Weichardt (Munchener Medizinische Wochenschrift, Nov. 29, 1904) says he has obtained a stable antitoxin which when taken by the mouth in moderate doses permits the output of an increased amount of muscular energy without fatigue and when taken continuously causes a sense of general bien eire and aug ments the capacity for work. He commends his preparation to clinicians as a promising analeptic for convalescents, neurasthenics, etc. This fatigue antitoxin is obtained from horses by injecting them with fatigue toxin produced in the muscles of animals that have been subjected to extreme muscular exhaustion.—Medical Record.

A Record of Marvelous Accomplishment. Lexington & Eastern R'y

Established February 19, 1904, The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder, of Lexington, has, within a few months' time, become concededly the best weekly paper of its kind in America, and has secured a paid-in-advance circulation of over 13,000 copies.

Among the contributors to its columns on agricultural topics are many of the best-posted men in America. Mr. H. F. Hillenmyer, whose reputation as a nurseryman is national, conducts each week a department of answers to inquiries, in which he gives from his vast store of knowledge, experience and study, his views and advice on any subject pertaining to the orchard, lawn or garden, about which information may be desired. Every issue of The Kentucky Farmer and Breeder contains the most pertinent news and the most timely advice for farmers and stock raisers of every sort.

As a medium for all forms of farm and live stock advertising (for both of which it offers special discounts), it has no rival in the state. More than half its circulation is in Kentucky, and for the most part among people who are interested in and able to buy either farms or good stock.

By special arrangement we are able to offer for a limited time
